Protect your HVAC systems and improve chiller performance with a Carrier vibration analysis.

New technology to boost older unit performance

By leveraging industry-leading vibration analysis and predictive diagnostics Carrier teams can deliver more uptime and improve equipment performance. Built on the idea that each machine has a unique acoustic fingerprint, the AI-based diagnostic solution listens to your rotating assets, analyzes the data and provides accurate and actionable diagnostics in-house. The initial machine health analysis is performed within minutes, with verified prescriptive diagnostics and maintenance recommendations summarized in a report within 48 hours.
